

Learn How to Write an Argumentative Essay Like a Pro

In an argumentative essay, you investigate a topic and pick a side same as an essay writer. You find strong evidence to show your point is true. Your argument should be specific and reasonable.

Some students think that an argumentative essay and a persuasive essay are the same. But there is a difference. A persuasive essay is about feelings and thoughts, but an argumentative essay is based on evidence and logic.

How to Write an Argumentative Essay?

An argumentative essay is a type of assignment in high school and college that requires you to think critically.

Follow these steps to create a well-written argumentative essay:

- Select a Topic

When you choose a topic, think about what you like and enjoy talking about. You should write something you find interesting and can speak clearly about. Never write on controversial subjects same as an free essay writer.

- Create an Essay Outline

An outline is needed for a successful essay. It has three parts: introduction, body paragraphs, and conclusion. In the essay outline, include these three sections. You don't need to think about how I write my essays when you create the essay outline; just worry about those three parts. An important part of creating an essay is creating an outline first, then start writing your essay.

- Write a Great Introduction

An argumentative essay introduction should start with a hook statement. Tell some background information and then state the thesis statement. You can get help from an essay writing service if you need it for your assignment.

- Write the Main Body Paragraphs

In the body paragraphs, you need to prove your thesis statement with strong evidence. The paragraph should only contain relevant information and not include any irrelevant details.

- Write a Powerful Conclusion

The conclusion of an essay should be both powerful and specific. If you do not end the essay with strong sentences, the reader will not really think about what you said. Say your point is logical without getting emotional and by using evidence that is concrete same as an essay writer service.

- Proofreading and Editing

Never submit the essay without proofreading. You can remove all the mistakes and errors and make your essay error-free.

Argumentative Essay Topics

The following are some topics for your argumentative essay. You can choose one of these as the topic for your essay.

- Is it safe to post personal details on the social account?
- The role of networking in the life of contemporary society
- Social media platforms are great for small and medium-sized businesses.
- Discuss how social media has helped in creating world peace.
- Social sites are powerful tools for uniting human beings.
- Should there be compulsory education funded by the state?
- Discuss whether college athletes should be paid or not.
- Should there be parenting classes at school or university?
- Is it necessary to offer remedial classes in college?
- Is community service making students better people?
- Celebrities tend to fail their political careers.
- Should there be a restriction on the sales and production of tobacco?
- Higher education should only be accessible to good students.
- The right way to implement gun control and other preventing measures
- Is social media building complexes in people?

Tips for Writing the Perfect Argumentative Essay

Here are some tips that will help you to write a good argumentative essay.

- You have to choose a debatable topic for your essay.
- You need to create an outline before you start writing.
- Write all the important details in the main body paragraphs.
- Understand the purpose of your essay and then choose a topic.
- Always proofread your work before submitting or publishing.
- Read different essays and get ideas from them for your essay writer service free.